Pakleppa/Pickering Videos

Introduction

Biographical background

Richard Pakleppa is a Namibian filmmaker who was strongly engaged in Namibian grassroots mobilisation in the 1980s. From 1991 onwards, he turned to documentary video production on social issues, and established the company “On Land Productions” together with Bridget Pickering.

Contents

This accession preserves the early video archives of On Land Productions, including raw footage. In particular the massive documentation of grassroots opinions on the land issue, recorded country-wide in preparation of the Land Conference of 1991, has immense historical value.

It consists of 329 video tapes in various technical formats – mostly Betacam, but also including U-matic and VHS videos.

Acquisition

The material was donated in 2001 by Richard Pakleppa and Bridget Pickering.

Restrictions

There are in principle no restrictions on viewing the material, however technical constraints at the National Archives may prevent the viewing of certain video formats.

Copyright of the footage remains with Richard Pakleppa and Bridget Pickering. Any public screening and re-use of the material has to be negotiated with the copyright holders.
