Private Accession A.0826 Women's Interviews

Introduction

Provenance

These interviews were recorded by Brigitte Lau between 1986-1987 as part of a project to record the history of settler women, with a particular focus on the internment during World War II and its effect on their lives during and after the war.

Processing

The interviews with altogether 20 persons are recorded on 27 sound cassettes. They had been stored in the sound cassette collection (B series), but only registered as an accession in 2005.

The cassettes have not been transcribed, but index cards with summaries have been written by Brigitte Lau. These index cards are stored in the Accession A.0718 (Brigitte Lau), item D.2.5.1.

The cassettes have not been digitised.

Restrictions

The interviews contain sometimes very personal information, and are therefore placed under embargo. Access has to be negotiated with the interviewees.
